PREAMBLE The goals of the Open Font License (OFL) are to stimulate worldwide development of collaborative font projects, to support the font creation efforts of academic and linguistic communities, and to provide a free and open framework in which fonts may be shared and improved in partnership with others.

The OFL allows the licensed fonts to be used, studied, modified and redistributed freely as long as they are not sold by themselves. The fonts, including any derivative works, can be bundled, embedded, redistributed and/or sold with any software provided that any reserved names are not used by derivative works. The fonts and derivatives, however, cannot be released under any other type of license. The requirement for fonts to remain under this license does not apply to any document created using the fonts or their derivatives.

DEFINITIONS "Font Software" refers to the set of files released by the Copyright Holder(s) under this license and clearly marked as such. This may include source files, build scripts and documentation.

"Reserved Font Name" refers to any names specified as such after the copyright statement(s).

"Original Version" refers to the collection of Font Software components as distributed by the Copyright Holder(s).

"Modified Version" refers to any derivative made by adding to, deleting, or substituting -- in part or in whole -- any of the components of the Original Version, by changing formats or by porting the Font Software to a new environment.

"Author" refers to any designer, engineer, programmer, technical writer or other person who contributed to the Font Software.

PERMISSION & CONDITIONS Permission is hereby granted, free of charge, to any person obtaining a copy of the Font Software, to use, study, copy, merge, embed, modify, redistribute, and sell modified and unmodified copies of the Font Software, subject to the following conditions:

1) Neither the Font Software nor any of its individual components, in Original or Modified Versions, may be sold by itself.

2) Original or Modified Versions of the Font Software may be bundled, redistributed and/or sold with any software, provided that each copy contains the above copyright notice and this license. These can be included either as stand-alone text files, human-readable headers or in the appropriate machine-readable metadata fields within text or binary files as long as those fields can be easily viewed by the user.

3) No Modified Version of the Font Software may use the Reserved Font Name(s) unless explicit written permission is granted by the corresponding Copyright Holder. This restriction only applies to the primary font name as presented to the users.

4) The name(s) of the Copyright Holder(s) or the Author(s) of the Font Software shall not be used to promote, endorse or advertise any Modified Version, except to acknowledge the contribution(s) of the Copyright Holder(s) and the Author(s) or with their explicit written permission.

5) The Font Software, modified or unmodified, in part or in whole, must be distributed entirely under this license, and must not be distributed under any other license. The requirement for fonts to remain under this license does not apply to any document created using the Font Software.

TERMINATION This license becomes null and void if any of the above conditions are not met.

Lato is a sans serif typeface household began inside the summer season of 2010 by Warsaw-based designer Lukasz Dziedzic ("Lato" indicates "Summer" in Polish). In December 2010 the Lato loved ones was published under the Open Font License by his foundry tyPoland, with help from Google.

Within the final ten or so years, for the duration of which Lukasz has been designing variety, most of his projects have been rooted in a particular design task that he necessary to resolve. With Lato, it was no unique. Initially, the family was conceived as a set of corporate fonts for a big client – who in the long run decided to go in different stylistic direction, so the family became out there to get a public release.

When functioning on Lato, Lukasz attempted to carefully balance some potentially conflicting priorities. He wanted to make a typeface that would appear very "transparent" when utilized in body text but would display some original traits when used in bigger sizes. He utilised classical proportions (particularly visible within the uppercase) to offer the letterforms familiar harmony and elegance. At the identical time, he made a sleek sans serif appear, which tends to make evident the truth that Lato was developed in 2010 – despite the fact that it does not follow any present trend.

The semi-rounded information on the letters give Lato a feeling of warmth, even though the powerful structure provides stability and seriousness. "Male and female, critical but friendly. With all the feeling in the Summer season," says Lukasz. Learn more at www.latofonts.com.

Update, August 2014: The previous version of Lato incorporated Extended Latin characters within the Latin subset. For anyone who is experiencing complications, please select the Extended Latin (latin-ext) subset to render all European languages appropriately.
